City of Students

34000

% of the citizens of Umeå are students. The university is the reason behind the population growth in the past decades. Yet students are nowhere to be seen in the city center.

The City Centre of Tomorrow

Where you choose the city center and the flow of people through it, the people are diverse and all have equal access and development. However, what is new is the social and economic diversity of the people in the city. The main determinant is the diversity in the city. The city centre has become a place of renewal and change. It is where the new and the old meet. The city centre has developed to the all-out diversity and mobility, and the social diversity is increasing. The city centre is becoming a place where people from all backgrounds and social classes can meet and interact.

Introduction

Diversity is a key concept in the city centre. The city centre should be a place where people from all backgrounds and social classes can meet and interact. The functions of the apartment will be placed in the back to free space for social activities.

The exterior corridors providing space for both transportation and outdoor terraces for the residents.
There are two types of accommodations. 58 of them are dorms with shared kitchen and hoard. The other 27 are studio apartments.

The apartments do not include more storage than what is necessary for everyday use. Most of the people coming to Umeå to study want to be close to their university library and be able to access more than an hour away. This is why we put storage available.

The park is to be a green haven in the city and therefore there are only two buildings. The objects is suitable for ice-skating in the winter and events like pride in summertime. It also includes a small grandstand event like subbuteo.

The event hall is a place where events, fairs, job, and nightlife takes place. The arches of civil discus and new consumers big hall for this kind of events. The location also makes it simpler to reach out to the citizens of Umeå.

The outdoor contribution takes you to your apartment. It also acts as a spacious balcony for you and your neighbours.

The structure is made up of vertical elements and slabs. The vertical elements make the frame and are not可根据to walls. The concrete slabs also works as floors inside the apartments and are therefore insulated and heated in the public areas. Some of the accommodations are connected with support from the vast truss work sitting on top of the building.

The park is placed as a park on top of this parking garage. The structure is dimensioned for vast loads and could therefore house a park.
